THE FESTIVAL

Individuals with disabilities are encouraged to attend all University of Iowa sponsored events. If you are a person with a disability who requires a reasonable accommodation in order to participate in this program, please contact the UI Libraries in advance at 319-335-5867.

Last year the University of Iowa Libraries retired its card catalog. And it has been an active retirement.

Motivated by regard and affection for this library icon, the community has come together to give the catalog cards a rebirth. We have been sending cards to artists, teachers, students, librarians and alumni across the country who want to participate in our card art project.

The artists have responded with a range of fascinating works including collage, sculpture and an installation piece that will be suspended from the ceiling of the Main Library's North Exhibition Hall.

Performing artists - local musicians, undergraduate playwrights, actors, improvisationalists - are also participating. cARTalog has evolved into a festival of art, music, theatre and food.

As National Library Week comes to a close, join us for this Festival of art, culture and a celebration of the Libraries.
