touching a moiety of a messuage in London, as the share of the said Alice as co-heir with the said Christiana of John de Eure, their father.

The like to Walter de Helyun and Walter de Wimborne touching an appeal which Robert Gilbert brings in the county of Wilts against John de Monemuth, Jul[iana], abbess of Wilton, Adam Cusyn, Thomas Linguire, and Thomas Oliver for the death of Adam Gilbert, chaplain, his son.

March 12. The like to John de Lovetot and Richard de Boyland touching the Down Ampney persons who broke the houses of Master Geoffrey de Aspale, clerk of Eleanor, the king's consort, at Culing, co. Suffolk, carried away goods and ill-treated his men.

The like to Robert Malet and Robert Fulconis, on complaint by Peter de Berghefeld, that whereas Matthew de Berghefeld, his grandfather, built a narrow wooden bridge across the water of the abbot of Rading in Berghefeld, moved merely by piety and not impelled thereto by any right, because of the danger of drowning and other mishaps which happened to passengers there, and caused it to be widened sufficiently for carts and men on horseback to cross; and neither Matthew nor his ancestors were accustomed to make or repair that bridge, and neither in the water nor soil adjoining had any property, common or claim, or held any tenement whereby they might be bound to repair the said bridge; Theobald le Carpenter, whom the king lately commanded to repair the bridge, is procuring before the king that the said Peter shall be compelled to contribute to the repairs thereof. The jury is to be of the county of Berks, and inquiry is to be made whether the said Matthew and his ancestors were accustomed to repair the said bridge wholly out of charity, or because they were bound to do so; also whether Theobald took timber, carriage or works from any one of those parts without paying the proper price.

The like to John de Lovetot and John de Metingham touching the trespasses of Gilbert le Forester and Henry Sparwe in depasturing their beasts in the meadow and several pasture of John de Rede at Rede, co. Suffolk, and ill-treating his men.
