1293. [April 5. Safe-conduct, until Michaelmas, for a ship called the St. Catherine of Dublin, belonging to Nicholas Hardynk of Wynchelse, and freighted for Flanders by the above-mentioned king's merchants.

Pardon to William de Sancto Claro for harbouring William de Veteri Ponte, a felon, whereof he was charged before the justices last in eyre in the county of Cumberland.

Signification to the keeper of the spirituality of the archbishopric of Canterbury of the royal assent to the election of Lewellin de Brongefeld, canon of St. Asaph, to be bishop.

MEMBRANE 18 (Schedule).

May 6. Promise to the merchants of the society of Pulci (Pullicum) and Rembertini of Florence to hold them harmless in respect of 10,000l. money arising from the tenth in aid of the Holy Land, received by Edmund, earl of Leicester, the king's brother, from J. bishop of Winchester and O. bishop of Lincoln, collectors thereof, and converted to his own use by the said Edmund, and in respect of their bond for the same to the said collectors. [Fœderæ.]