1298. Certification, dated Alvechurch, Tuesday before St. Matthew, 1298, by G. bishop of Worcester, at the king's mandate to him to certify whether Simon le Chaumberleyn, who was said to have taken the habit of a monk in the priory of Little Malverne, had been professed a monk or not; that of old right and custom the prior of Little Malverne is as it were the bishop's minister in that place, so that, without the election of the monks, the bishop can nominate or put there any of that or any other house, and the prior cannot, without the bishop's consent, obtain in due form, give the habit to anyone of the place, nor receive any one for profession, which makes a monk more than the habit; and that the said Simon has not made profession to the bishop or to any other in his name.  French.  By p.s.
