
The earlier portion, extending from 728 to 1148, appears to be a copy of a compilation made in Northumbria about 1161, to which Hoveden added little. From 1148 to 1169—a very valuable portion of this work—the matter is derived from another source, to which Hoveden appears to have supplied little. From 1170 to 1192 is the portion which corresponds to some extent with the Chronicon known under the name of Benedict of Peterborough (see No. 49). From 1193 to 1301 may be said to be wholly Hoveden's work.
