20 EDWARD II.

MEMBRANE 29.

1326.
July 8. Henley. Protection with clause nolamus, for one year, for Thomas de Evesham, clerk.

July 8. Henley. Commission, during pleasure, to Adam de Herewynton, king's clerk, to the office of chancellor of the exchequer, Dublin, with the office of chief baron of that exchequer. Mandate to the treasurer and barons of that exchequer to admit him to the said office, and to deliver to him the seal and other things pertaining thereto.

July 8. Henley. Appointment of John de Grauntsete as second baron of that exchequer. Like mandate to the treasurer and barons. The like of Roger de Preston as second justice of the pleas following the justiciary of Ireland. Mandate to Nicholas Fastolf to admit him.

July 8. Byfleet. Licence for the alienation in mortmain by John de Byflé and Isabel his wife to the abbot and convent of Lavenden of 8 messuages, 80 acres of land, 5 acres of meadow and 10s. of rent in Latthebury, to find a chaplain to celebrate divine service daily in the church of the abbey for the souls of the said John and Isabel, their ancestors and heirs and the faithful departed. By fine of 60s.

Protection with clause nolamus for one year for Berard de Lebreto. The like for the following:—
John de Watenhull, parson of the church of Manigton.
The dean and chapter of St. Paul's, London.
The prior of Worspring.
Thomas de Thorne.
Thomas de Baumburgh, parson of the church of Ovyngeham.

July 15. Westminster. Restitution to the prior and convent of St. Faith's, of 10 acres of marsh with a fishery and other appurtenances pertaining to a mill in that town, which they lately acquired with the king's licence from John de Claverynge, as it appears by inquisition made by John de Blomvill, escheator in the counties of Norfolk, &c. that these had always been appurtenances of the said mill, but by the dryness of the season at the time of the acquisition they were converted into meadow, and that they are not held in chief, and that not being specified in the king's letters of licence they were taken by the said escheator into the king's hands. By fine of 20s.
