MEMBRANE 1.

Dec. 1. Appointment of William de Emeleye to purvey necessaries for the Westminster. repair of defects in the king's manor and park of Clippeston in Shirewode, co. Nottingham, in his lodge in the park of Beskewod and in the chapel of St. Edward in Shirwod forest, to make a rabbit warren in the park of Beskewod, to pay the wages of the carpenters, masons and other labourers for these works by view and testimony of Richard de Clifford; to take carpenters and other labourers for the works to stay therein at the king's wages as long as shall be necessary; and to imprison all those whom he finds rebellious or contrariant until the king give order for their punishment; taking at the exchequer 6*d.* a day for his wages while he be in the office. By K.

*MEMBRANE 13*d.

Nov. 17. Commission to Robert Scales, Robert de Causton, John de Reppes, Westminster. John de Berneye, William de Wichyngham and John Daniel, reciting that, whereas the king lately committed to John de Wesenham the keeping of the temporalities of the bishopric of Ely, now being in the king's hand, to hold at farm for such time as the temporalities remain in the king's hand, he is now informed that some evildoers, confederate together, have come at divers times with armed force within the liberties and lordships of the bishopric and carried away goods of the said John and other profits of the temporalities to no small value and beaten bailiffs, ministers and servants of the king and of the said John and other men and tenants there and elsewhere within the said (sic) county, killing some and robbing others, and prevented the bailiffs and ministers from executing the king's mandates or doing other things belonging to their offices; and appointing them to find by inquisition in the county the names of the evildoers and all articles and circumstances in any wise bearing on the premises.

*MEMBRANE 12*d.

Nov. 16. Commission to Ralph de Nevill, William de Dacre, John de Moubray Westminster. and William de Skyppewyth, reciting that the king wishing to be certified wherefore William de Nessefeld, escheator in the counties of York, Cumberland and Westmoreland, took into the king's hands the lands of Hugh de Querton, lately commanded him to certify him thereof in the chancery and the said William certified that, because he found by inquisition taken ex officio that Hugh lately adhered to Robert de Bruys, traitor, and the Scots, enemies of the king's father, and that Hugh had in fee after such adherence by the death of Thomas his brother and Henry his father lands in Crokelyn, co. Cumberland, and Querton, Soulby, Crosseby, Tybay, Ronerthwayt and Nateby, co. Westmoreland, he took the said lands into the king's hand, and that it appeared to the council on examination of the certificate that such certificate was insufficient because there was no mention therein where and under what circumstances the adherence was made and that the lands had therefore been taken into the king's hand unduly without
