1369.

in 6 Edward II, James de Sancto Edmund bequeathed 5s. marks of rent out of a tenement in Gofair Lane in the parish of St. Swithin, London, to find a chantry in that church; in 7 Edward II, Godwin le Hodore bequeathed 6 marks of rent out of a tavern, with a hall built over it, and chambers and other appurtenances, situated upon Cornhull in the parish of St. Mary, Wellecherchaw, to find a chantry in that church; in 9 Edward II, John de Merlawe bequeathed 6 marks of rent out of a tenement in the parish of St. Bride the Virgin, Fletestrete, in the suburb of London, and his other tenements in the city of London, to find a chantry in the same church; and in 12 Edward II, Roger de Bury bequeathed 5 marks of rent out of a tenement with shops as well in the front part of that tenement towards the street of Briggestrete, London, as in the back part thereof towards the lane called Rederoslane in the parish of St. Margaret, Briggestrete, to find a chantry in the same church; and those to whom the legacies were made entered into the rents, which were held of the said kings in burgage, as has been found by inquisitions, without the king’s licence, and on account of these trespasses the same are now in the king’s hand; he, having consideration of this that the abbey of St. Mary Graces, founded by him near the Tower of London, is not yet fully endowed, and of the intentions of the said Richard and others named above, has granted to the abbot and convent in mortmain the said rents and tenements, to hold as the full endowment of their abbey, to celebrate for the souls of the king, Isabel, his late mother, Philippa, his late consort, and his progenitors and heirs, and of those named in the grant and legacies aforesaid.

By p.s.

Aug. 14. Whereas Queen Philippa, by several letters patent, granted for her life to John de Gosebourn, clerk, then auditor of her accounts, (1) two messuages and 12 acres of land late of John son of Stephen, Alan Andreu of Buxton, and Alan Russell, and a garden with a grange late of John de Botesloind within the hundred of Midelton, and 11 acres of land in Merden late of Robert Malkyn, which came into her hands as escheats because the tenants died without heirs, and (2) the first herbage for two mares with their issues of two years in the park of Haveryng atte Boure, so that he satisfy the parker there for the after herbage for the mares, (saving pasture for the king’s deer there); the king, because the premises as well as the manor of Haveryng with the park are in his hands by the death of the queen, has granted the lands with the first herbage to the said John de Gosebourn for life, he rendering to the king the services due for the lands and satisfying the parker for the after herbage, saving sufficient pasture for the king’s deer as above.

Oct. 8. Presentation to John de Haytford to the church of Flixburgh, in the diocese of Lincoln, in the king’s gift by reason of his wardship of the land and heir of Norman Darcy, who held in chief.

By K.

Aug. 17. Whereas the king by letters patent, dated 1 April in his thirty-ninth year, granted to Joan de Stanlowe an annuity of 100s. at the Exchequer for life or until other order, and on 1 January, 42 Edward III, Queen Philippa, by letters patent, granted to her for life 3d. a day of the issues of the manor of Haveryng atte Boure by the hands of the bailiffs, approvers or other keepers of the manor; the king, because the manor