Feb. 14. William de Wyndesore, the king’s lieutenant in Ireland, staying there on the king’s service, has letters nominating John de Wyndesore and John de Preston as his attorneys in England for one year. David de Wollere received the attorneys before the withdrawal of William from England.

Feb. 12. Licence, for 20 marks paid to the king by John de Nevill, for the alienation in mortmain by him of a chamber with a garden containing ½ acre of land within the manor of Shirreffhton, held in chief, and 4 marks of rent issuing from the same manor to John de Welle and William de Thekston, chaplains of the chantry of the altar of St. Mary in the church of Shirreffhton lately founded by Ralph de Nevill, his father, to celebrate divine service daily in the said church at the said altar for the soul of his said father, and for the safe estate of himself, and for his soul after his death.

Feb. 14. Whereas William Mollyng, deceased, bequeathed a tenement in Westminster, the parish of St. Leonard, Esteechepe, London, and 28s. of rent to be taken from a tenement in the same parish then held of him by Boydin Fader, to Margaret, his wife, for her life, rendering therefrom 6 marks to a chaplain to celebrate divine service daily in the said church for his soul and the souls of his father and mother, and 5s. yearly for a torch to be lighted daily at the elevation of the Host in the same church, with remainder to Alice la Kynges and Joan de Canefeld, his sister, and their heirs and assigns, on the same conditions; and whereas Richard Sharp, deceased, bequeathed 5 marks of rent from the tenement which John le Love then held in the same parish of his gift and feoffment for the sustenance of another chaplain to celebrate divine service daily in the same church for his soul; and the king’s licence for these bequests was not obtained, as has been found by divers inquisitions taken by James Andreu, then mayor of London and escheator in the same city; the king, for 110 marks paid to him by Robert Boydon, citizen and butcher of Esteechepe, London, has granted him the said sums so alienated in mortmain together with all arrears thereof due to the king, and has granted him licence to found a new chantry of one chaplain to celebrate divine service daily in the said church for the souls of the said William and Richard, and for the souls of Philippa, late queen of England, and for the safe estate of the king, the said Robert and Margaret, his wife, and the king’s clerk of Chancery, Geoffrey de la Launde, parson of the said church, and for their souls after their death, so that he, his heirs and assigns, provide the said rent for the said chaplains and find a torch to be lighted as above.
