him, granted them a further extension of twenty years beyond the said twelve, and that no account need be rendered by them before the end of the said twenty years. For $\frac{1}{3}$ mark paid in the hanaper.

Whereas John de Ippe, 'chivaler,' to whom the king lately granted the offices of constable of High Peak and chief forester of the same life, now proposes to surrender his estate in the offices to Robert de Morton and has surrendered them to the king for that purpose, as well as his letters patent of appointment; the king has granted the offices to Robert for life.

Pardon, for 20 marks paid by William Pyle, chaplain, to him of his outlawry in the county of Cornwall for non-appearance before the king to answer touching proceedings in derogation of the king's right and of the judgments rendered for him upon his presentations to the archdeaconry of Cornwall and the prebend which John de Sancto Paulo lately held in the church of St. Peter, Exeter, which presentations the king recovered in the King's Bench against John, then bishop of Exeter; he having now surrendered to the Marshalsea prison as John Knyvet, chief justice, has certified. The king has also restored him to the same estate as he had before the promulgation of the outlawry, has restored to him his goods and the issues of his lands, which might have been adjudged forfeit, and has pardoned him, by the name of William Pyle, his suit for certain proceedings in derogation of the judgement whereby the king recovered against the late bishop of Exeter and John Uphill his presentation to the said prebend.
