Although John Cauchon, parson of the church of Thornton in Lonesdale, was born in the parts of France whereby on account of the war with France the fruits and profits of his church are taken into the king's hand, yet because he stays with the king's daughter Isabel, countess of Bedford, celebrating masses before her daily in her household, as Thomas Tirell, steward of the king's son the earl of Bedford and the king's daughter, his wife, of their lands in England has certified on behalf of Isabel; the king in consideration for her grants that the said John shall take himself or by his proctors, for such time as he be parson of the said church and dwelling with the king's daughter, all the fruits and profits of the church from the day on which the war was last begun until now, and henceforth during the war.

Grant to the king's esquire, Thomas Spigurnel, of the keeping of the park of Sende, co. Wilts, late of Humphrey de Bohun, earl of Hereford, who held in chief; to hold, with the wages and fees pertaining thereto, during the nonage of the earl's daughters and heirs.

Grant to the king's esquire, William Adderbury, of the keeping of the manor of Cudyngton, co. Oxford, late of Thomas de Williams-cote, 'chivaler,' who held the manor of the king's son Edmund, earl of March, son and heir of Roger late earl of March, who was then within age and in the king's ward, to hold during the nonage of the heir of the said Thomas without rendering anything, but finding sustenance for the heir according to the value of the manor.

Presentation of Master Hugh Hikelyng, precentor of the collegiate church of Crideton, in the diocese of Exeter, to the church of Northull, in the same diocese, in the king's gift by reason of his wardship of the land and heir of Edward de Courtenay, who held in chief; on an exchange of benefices with John Wale.

Licence, after inquisition made by Thomas Caus, late escheator in the county of Norfolk, and for 10s. paid in the hanaper by Thomas Mounteneye, citizen of London, for him to enclose a way, 20 perches long and 5 feet wide, leading between Threxton and Little Cressyngham beneath his court in Threxton, for the enlargement of his said court; provided that he make on his own soil there another way of the same length and width for public use.

Presentation of John Cruse, parson of the church of Mursle, in the diocese of Lincoln, to a mediety of the church of Seggebrok, in the same diocese, in the king's gift by reason of the alien priory of Eye being in his hand on account of the war with France; on an exchange of benefices with Walter de Eston.

Pardon to John Hille of Cherchedelewe of his outlawry in the county of Warwick for non-appearance before the justices of the Bench to answer Matthew Hauwe and Walter atte Staple touching a plea that he render an account of the time when he was their bailiff in Marteleye and their receiver; he having now surrendered