

1376.

Membrane 30—cont.

and Nesta, his wife, for their souls when they shall have departed this life, and for the souls of the king's mother Isabel and his consort Philippa, Joan sometime the wife of the said Robert, and his ancestors, relations and children; now, at the supplication of the said Robert, in order that the chantry may endure in greater security, the king grants that the five chaplains may, with the licence of Robert and his heirs, elect one of their number or another fitter chaplain to be warden or master of the chantry to have the wardenship and rule of it; so that, as often as the said warden or master decease or resign or otherwise demise his office, the remaining chaplains may elect another, and, as often as one of the chaplains die or the number be otherwise diminished, the warden or master with the assent of the other chaplains may elect a chaplain or chaplains to make up the number.

For $\frac{1}{2}$ mark paid in the hanaper.

Sept. 12. Licence for William Lumbard, citizen of Watreford in Ireland,
Westminster. to ship 40 weys of wheat, 10 weys of malt and 10 weys of oats in the ports of Dublin, Droughda and other ports of that land, and bring them to England or to any parts of Ireland he pleases to make his profit of the same; with mandate to all sheriffs, mayors, bailiffs, ministers, customers, keepers of ports and other lieges in Ireland to permit this, notwithstanding any ordinances or mandates to the contrary.

Sept. 11. Pardon, at the supplication of Robert de Assheton, the treasurer,
Havering. to William Freynsh of Melles, called 'Somonour,' of the king's suit for the death of John Wytteneye, servant of the parson of Melles, deceased, whereof he is indicted or appealed, and of any consequent outlawry.

By p.s.

Sept. 12. Admission for three years of William de Carreu as guardian of Westminster. Thomas de Carreu, son and heir of Leonard de Carreu, knight, a minor in the king's ward, who stays in England, to sue and defend for him in all courts in Ireland.

N. Carreu admitted the guardian with the chancellor's licence.

Nicholas de Carreu, guardian of the lands late of the said Leonard in Ireland, who stays in England, has letters nominating William de Carreu to be his attorney in Ireland for three years.

The chancellor received the attorney.

Sept. 17. On the petition of Henry de Ferrariis shewing that, whereas he Westminster. is bound to the king in 154*l.* for the issues of the manors of Killen, Clony and Clomacduff, in Ireland, committed to him and Joan, his late wife, by letters patent under the seal of Ireland, among other lands late of Richard Tuyt, 'chivaler,' lately in the king's hands for certain causes, and in 200*l.* by a recognisance made by him in the Exchequer of Ireland on 12 May in the forty-eighth year, all his lands have for these causes been seized into the king's hands, as by a certificate sent into the chancery of England by the king's command by the treasurer and barons of the Exchequer of Ireland more fully appears; the king has pardoned him the said sums so due and acquits him and his heirs and executors of the same, and by these presents has restored to him all the lands which are of the dower of Maud,