Aug. 25. Westminster. Pardon to Nicholas de la Beche of all his debts at the Exchequer, as well his own as his ancestors, and acquittance to him, his heirs and executors, in respect of them. By p.s.

Pardon to the heirs and the executors of the will of John de la Beche, knight, of all debts due by the said John to the king, which are now required of them by summons of the Exchequer. By the same p.s.

Sept. 23. Tower of London. Whereas the king lately caused divers ships to be purveyed for the passage of his wools to parts beyond the seas, and he now learns that the mariners of one of these ships, called la Michael of Ciyre, have fled the ship, in contempt of him and to the great delay of his business, he has appointed John Gyme, master of that ship, to select as well from those who have fled as from others as many mariners and others as shall be required for the safe conduct of the ship, and all his sheriffs, bailiffs, ministers and lieges are to be attendant upon the said John herein as required. By K. & C.

Writ de intendendo directed to the bailiffs, good men and commonalty of Oxford in favour of Henry de Stodelegh, whom they presented to the king as their mayor elect and who has taken the oath of office before him.
