centred and land of Ingelfeld, to hold to him and his heirs, kings of England, with all knight's fees, advowsons, and other appurtenances as fully as he held them before he assumed the governance of the realm, and of late hearing from his son that through negligence of his son's ministers there had been divers usurpations upon the fees by magnates and others of the realm he commanded the treasurer and barons of the Exchequer after scrutiny of the books of the fees and other memoranda to certify him of the fees and advowsons held by his son as earl of Chester, and they have certified that such search has not made clear what fees and advowsons are held at present by the earl in right of the said county, but that the results of the search are sent in to the Chancery in certain schedules whereof the tenour is as follows:

In the Red Book of Fees of the Exchequer in the county of Chester, there are 82 fees of the county of Chester according to an inquisition made by Alan la Zousche, when justice.

Hamo de Masecy, 5 fees.
Roger de Venables, 10 fees.
Warin de Vernun \( \frac{5}{1} \) fees, besides \( \frac{1}{1} \) of a fee of the barony of Wych Maubanc.
James de Audithell, 8 fees of the barony of Wich Maubanc.
Philippa, countess of Warwick, 3 fees of the same.
Adam Mustel, 3 fees of the same.
Laurence de Quarnford, 3 fees of the same.
Edmund de Lascy, 8 fees of the barony of Hauleton.
Walkelin de Arden, 7 fees.
Roger de Monte Alto, 2½ fees.
Thomas de Meingnewaryn, 4½ fees.
Robert Pathric, 3 fees.
David de Malo Passu, 3 fees.
William de Boidele, 4½ fees.
John son of Alan, 2 fees.
Kingesley, 1 fee.
The fee of Roweles answers for 1 fee.
Puleford, for 2 fees.
Patrick de Haselwell, 1 fee.
Bertram de Molis, 1 fee.
Matthew de Thornton, 1 fee.
Edmund de Soterleigh, 1 fee.
The heirs of Adam de Hellesby hold Acton for \( \frac{1}{2} \) fee.
Geoffrey de Duton, 1 fee in Chelde.
The earl of Albermarle, 1 fee in Fuleschawe.
John de Gray, \( \frac{1}{4} \) fee in Adelinton.
Sewal de Chiderinton, \( \frac{1}{4} \) fee.
William Bridon, \( \frac{1}{4} \) fee at Swetenham.

In the Book of Fees of the Exchequer in the counties of Salop and Stafford among the fees held in chief are contained thus:

Waukelin de Arden, 1 fee in Elleford held of the honor of Chester.

Honor of Chester.

Roesia de Werdon holds Longesdon Ruston and the other Longesdon and a moiety of Ipstan, by the service of finding a knight in the garrison (warresturam) of Chester Castle for forty days.

Nigel de Langeford holds a tenth part of a fee in Witekeshull.

Among the fees of the earl of Arundel—

Ralph Basset holds \( \frac{1}{2} \) fee of the honor of Chester and 1 fee in Draiton, of the said honor.