Sept. 15. Assignment to Hugh de Ulseby of 838£. 2s. 4½d. on the customs and subsidies in the ports of London, Boston and Kyngeston-upon-Hull, to wit, 300£. in the ports of London and Kyngeston-upon-Hull respectively, and 238£. 2s. 4½d. in the port of Boston, when these customs and subsidies shall come into the hands of William de la Pole, pursuant to the king's grant thereof to him, in satisfaction of the said sum due to Hugh on his account of the time in which he was the king's butler. On certificate by the treasurer and barons of the exchequer that that sum was due, the king, in consideration of his good service in the office and the good place which he held in furthering some important business for him beyond the seas, commanded them to make him an assignment thereof on the second year of the subsidy of the ninth of sheaves, lambs and fessees, in places where he might be satisfied the more speedily, but the writ was afterwards surrendered in the chancery, and the enrolment thereof cancelled.

By the Keeper & C.

Sept. 20. Assignment to Matthew Canasson, of forty-one sacks of the king's wool in the county of Berks, of the value of 205£. in satisfaction of that sum paid by him to Nicholas Lumpe, king's serjeant-at-arms, for money due to him in the king's wardrobe, to wit, by a bill of Edmund de la Beche, king's clerk, late keeper of the wardrobe, 187., and by six bills of William de Northewell, king's clerk, afterwards keeper of the same, 187. 17½d. for wages and robes as well as for victuals bought from him for the household; which bills the said Nicholas has surrendered at the receipt of the exchequer.

By bill of the treasurer.
