knowledge. Wherefore, seeing that by virtue of the said surreptitious provision he now in many ways disturbs Thomas de Hatfield, king's clerk, touching a prebend in the church of Salisbury which the king has conferred upon him by his royal right and at another time renders himself an object of well-merited suspicion by his adherence to the king's enemies, the king reputes him as a violator of the rights of his crown and his enemy, and on that account will take order for a convenient remedy against his malice.

Feb. 18. Whereas by letters patent, dated 1 March, 14 Edward III, the king granted to Gawan Corder 40l. yearly out of lands which the abbot of Langdon held at farm of the demise of the alien abbot of St. Bertin, in the king's hands for certain causes, for such time as those lands were in his hands, and whereas the said Gawan has informed him that the said lands pertain to the priory of Treweleghe and are in his hands, because the prior is an alien, by reason of the war with France, praying that he may have the said 40l. by the hands of the prior or other tenant or farmer of the priory out of the farm of the priory: the king has assented to his petition.
