Membrane 14—cont.

Whereas the church of Beculvre, in the diocese of Canterbury, of the patronage of the archbishop of that place, was of old appropriated to the hospitals of Herbaldoune and Northgate, and such appropriation in the time of John de Peccham, late archbishop, by authority of the apostolic see, was revoked, which church the archbishops have hitherto collated to secular clerks, and whereas for the revocation of the said appropriation they have been charged to the present time with the payment of 140£.

and the parsons of the said church have been charged with the payment of 20£. yearly to the said hospitals; the king, at the request of John, the present archbishop, has granted licence for the appropriation of the church and the chapels connected with it, on the decease or cession of the rector, to the archbishop's table; provided always that he and his successors and the prior and convent of Christ Church, Canterbury, in any vacancy of the see, be held to pay the said 160£. yearly to the hospitals and that the king and his heirs be in no wise held to pay the same in such vacancies.

By p.s.

Whereas the king by letters patent lately granted licence for the alienation in mortmain by Richard de Stanlak of Whitteneye and John de Croxford the younger of six messuages, 100 acres of land, the passage over the water of Sandford by Oxford and 20s. of rent in Whitteneye, Sandford, Yiftele, Littlemore and Couele to three chaplains to celebrate service in Whitteneye church, and afterwards William de Edynidon, bishop of Winchester, the said lands being not yet given in mortmain, acquired in fee twelve messuages, 100 acres of land, 6 acres of meadow, 4l. 3d. of rent and a rent of 1lb. of cummin and one capon, in Whitteneye, Churchecouele, Littelmore and Yiftele and the passage over the water of Saunford by Oxford, which are, as the king has truly been informed, the same lands for which the said Richard and John obtained their licence, although now, having been augmented on account of divers arrentations, improvements and buildings put in void plots in the meantime, they are specified by the number and quantity, wishing to carry out the original intention and making petition to the king that, whereas he has ordained to create a perpetual chantry of one priest warden and two other chaplains in the said church and endow it with the tenements aforesaid, he may have licence for this; the king for a fine made by the bishop has granted licence for the alienation of the said messuages, lands, rents and passage to the warden and his successors for the sustenance of them and two chaplains to be found by them to celebrate divine service daily in the said church for the good estate of the king and the bishop, for their souls after they are dead, and for the souls of the king's progenitors and heirs and of the father, mother, brothers, sisters and benefactors of the bishop.

By fine of 1 mark, because a fine was made at another time for the first licence.

Presentation of Thomas de Neubald to the church of Weng, in the diocese of Lincoln, in the king's gift by reason of the priory of St. Neots being in his hands on account of the war with France.

Pardon, for ½ mark which William de Evesham will pay to the king, to the said William for acquiring in fee from Thomas de Waltham Sancte Crucis and Joan his wife, four shops and three sollars in the parish of St. Clement Danes without the bar of the New Temple, London, and from Hugh de Putesford of London, 'taillour,' and Christina, his wife, a messuage in the same parish, held in chief, and entering into the same without licence: and licence for him to retain them.
