of voidance of the house, and the king, that they may be able to pur:
their studies with more effect and perform divine services in th house, especially the chantries and offices ordained there for the ge estate of him, his consort, and his children, and for his soul when shall be taken from among them and for the souls of his progeniters a heirs, has granted that as often as the house fall void the scholars sh hold the said manors and take the issues and profits of the same as fre and fully as the king would have done if the custody had been reserved him, without interference by escheators, sheriffs, bailiffs and minist further than that at the beginning of every voidance the escheator sh take one simple seisin in the king’s name in the manors and then wit draw, the scholars rendering in every voidance 80s. By p

MEMBRANE 16.

Grant for life to the king’s yeoman, John de Herlyng, usher of th chamber, of the office of controller of wools, hides, wool-fells, wines at all other merchandise liable to customs in the port of Newcastle-upon Tyne, all places thence as far as Hertilpole and the port of Hertilpole, 1 taking the accustomed wages and fees. Furthermore because he sta: continually in the king’s company by his order, he may substitute f himself a deputy in the said office for such time as he shall stay with th king. By p.

Whereas the king lately granted licence for the alienation in mortmai by John de Pulteneye to the warden and chaplains of the chantry founde by him adjoining the church of St. Laurence, Candelwykstrete, London of the advowson of the church of Napton, and for the appropriation of th church by the warden and chaplains; John, archbishop of Canterbury before effect had been given to such licence, has acquired in fee from Joh: de Pulteneye the said advowson and has given him in exchange th advowson of the church of Eslyngg, and the king at the instance of th archbishop has granted licence for the archbishop and his heirs to assign the advowson of the church of Napton in mortmain to the warden an chaplains of the chapel of St. Thomas the Martyr, in the parish churcl of Stratford on Avon, founded by him, and for them to appropriate th church. By p.s

Whereas Simon Cote was indicted before William de Thorpe and hi fellows, late justices of oyer and terminer touching trespasses in the county of Somerset, of being a common malefactor, and because he came not before them to stand to the right was outlawed in that county; the king for his good service in Gascony in the company of Henry, earl of L Lancaster, has pardoned him. By K. and by testimony of the earl, Grant for life to Joan de Stodeleye, for good service to the king and his daughter, Mary de Waltham, in attending upon the custody of the latter, of an annuity of 10l. at the exchequer. By p.s.

Grant for life to Margery de Mounceux, for good service to the king and his son, Lionel de Andewerp, of an annuity of 10 marks at the exchequer. By p.s.

The prior of the house of St. Katharine without Lincoln has made petition to the king setting forth that although there is a writing made at Staunford, in the eleventh year of King John, containing among other things that the then prior and convent are bound to the crown of England in 20l. and to a subsidy for their maintenance,