

The author was born about the end of the fourteenth century, consecrated Bishop of St. Asaph in the year 1449, and translated to the see of Chichester in 1450. His work gives a full account of the views of the Lollards, and has great value for the philologist.

20. ANNALES CAMBRIC. Edited by the REV. JOHN WILLIAMS of Ithel, M.A. 1860.

These annals, which are in Latin, commence in 447, and come down to 1288. The earlier portion appears to have been taken from an Irish Chronicle used by Tigernach, and by the compiler of the Annals of Uster.

These volumes contain the historical works of Gerald de Barry, who lived in the reigns of Henry II., Richard I., and John.

The Topographia Hiberniae (in Vol. V.) is the result of Gerald's two visits to Ireland, the first in 1183, the second in 1185, when he accompanied Prince John into that country. The Epistulae Hiberniae was written about 1188. Vol. VI. contains the Itinerarium Kambriense and Descriptio Kambriae; and Vol. VII., the lives of St. Reginald and St. Hugh. Vol. VIII. contains the Tractate De Principum Infractione, and an index to Vols. I.-IV. and VIII.

There are at present six independent manuscripts of the Saxon Chronicle, ending in different years, and written in different parts of the country. In this edition, the text of each manuscript is printed in columns on the same page, so that the student may see at a glance the various changes which occur in orthography.

The principal contents of the volumes are some diplomatic Papers of Richard III., correspondence between Henry VII. and Ferdinand and Isabella of Spain; documents relating to Edmund de la Pole, Earl of Suffolk; and a portion of the correspondence of James IV. of Scotland.
