Mandate to L. archbishop of Dublin, M. son of Gerold, justiciary of Ireland, and the master of the Knights Templars in Ireland, that every year after the accounts have been audited at the Exchequer of Dublin of all the issues of the land of Ireland by the treasurer and barons of that Exchequer, they shall go in person to the said Exchequer and there make a view of all the receipts and mises of the said treasurer, and of how much remains to the king in treasure, and they shall make a chirograph thereof sealed with their seals wherein shall be contained the said receipts and mises, whereof one part shall remain with the treasurer and the other shall be sent to the king. The king has commanded the treasurer and barons to admit them for this.

Aug. 28. Grant to the said Geoffrey of 20l. a year, to wit, 10l. at Michaelmas and 10l. at Easter, so long as he is treasurer.

Aug. 28. Appointment, during pleasure, of Warin de Fisacre, to the chamberlainship of the Exchequer, Dublin; and mandate to the above Geoffrey de Turevill, to give him full seisin thereof.

Aug. 28. Mandate to Benedict son of Ambrose or his assigns in Ireland to deliver to him the said chamberlainship.

Aug. 29. By the same words a mandate was sent to P. de Ryvallis.

Aug. 29. Mandate to M. son of Gerold, justiciary of Ireland, to admit him as chamberlain of the king of the same Exchequer.

Grant to him of 10l. a year at the Exchequer, Dublin, so long as he is chamberlain, with mandate in pursuance to the above treasurer.

Aug. 28. Mandate to the said treasurer, to admit the justiciary, L. archbishop of Dublin, and the Master of the Knights Templars to make a view and chirograph of the receipts and mises as above.

Aug. 29. Exemption for life of John son of William son of Roscelin from being put upon assizes, juries or recognitions.

MEMBRANE 5.

Sept. 2. Appointment, during pleasure, of John de Nevill to the custody of the park of Hathfeld.

Request to P. duke of Brittany, earl of Richemund, as he has made a truce with the king of France and so has now fewer matters to attend to, and is better able than during the war to succour the king's people engaged in the defence of St. James de Beuvron (Sanctum Jacobum super Becronum) with the money for which the king at another time asked him, to let Amaury de Sancto Ainando and Hubert Huese and others in garrison there have 500 marks of prest money for their liversies; and the king will repay the money in England to his messenger bearing letters testimonial of the said Amaury and Hubert. The king would have provided the money himself and sent it from England but for the perils of the roads.

Sept. 2. Prohibition to the earls, barons, knights and others coming to the tournament at Northampton on the octaves of the Nativity of St. Mary, from holding any tournament at that day and place or elsewhere on any other day, otherwise the king will visit them in their bodies and tenements in such sort that they will feel themselves aggrieved.

The like of one at Cantebrig on Tuesday and Wednesday after the said Nativity.
