1245.
Oct. 1. Royal assent to the election of Hugh, monk of Seleby, to be abbot of that house; signified to the lord of York, that he may do his part herein.

[In camp at Deganwy.]

Oct. 3. Safe-conduct, for Tuesday after Michaelmas and the whole of the following Wednesday, for Edeneuet Vaghan, Mereduc Abricard, Griffin Aboen and Tuder Anaddok and those whom they bring with them, coming to speak with the king or his council; so that the sentence [of excommunication] in which they are bound shall not harm them, and they shall not on that account be arrested or hindered.

Oct. 15. Mandate to the treasurer and chamberlains of the Exchequer of Dublin to lay out yearly 20l. in buying 100 tunics against the feast of All Saints to the use of the Friars Minor of Dublin, Waterford, Droweda, Cork, Athlon and Kilkenni, of the king’s alms, during pleasure.

Oct. 18. Pardon to Elias son of Adam Banderere of his outlawry for a larceny wherewith he was charged; on the usual condition. By John Maunsel.

MEMBRANE 1.

Oct. 21. Mandate to the treasurer and chamberlains of Dublin to let 3000 foot serjeants of Ireland, who came to the king’s service to Gannok with the justiciary of Ireland, each of whom takes 2d. a day, have their liveries for 10 days, to wit, from Friday after St. Luke the Evangelist this year until Sunday the morrow of the Apostles Simon and Jude in the thirtieth year, both days included.

The like to them to let Forminus de Sancto Walerico have 8½ marks, to wit, 100s. for every mast (walo) to make a beam (cirjum) for the king’s catapult (bidadu) at Gannok, and 1 mark for his expenses with the king in Wales.

Protection, until the king’s next going to Ireland, for Fethel, king of Connaught. [Pederea.]

Licence for William Bardulf to make his will of all his moveables, so that his executors be not impeded in the free execution of his will by reason of any debt he may owe the king, for which the king will betake himself to the heirs.
