1259.

March 24. Letters of indemnity for the above mentioned sureties touching the said 3000 marks; and assignment to them of the issues of the bishopric of Winchester to the use of the said merchants until they are satisfied of the said sum, and in default of these, wards and escheats to that amount. [Cancelled.]

_Hic recessit H. de Wengham._

March 16. Bond to the said Ruccus and Reyner and their fellows in 3000 marks word for word as above.

This letter was duplicated by the same words and sealed, the names and surety of the earl of Leicester and the earl of Norfolk being withdrawn.

Letters of indemnity for the above sureties, and assignment to them of the issues of the bishopric of Winchester to the use of the said merchants, with mandate to Nicholas de Haudlo, guardian of the bishopric, to deliver the issues to them; and if these be not paid to them the king grants that they shall receive the money at the Exchequer.

Mandate in pursuance to the said Nicholas.

In the same manner and by the same words letters patent were duplicated, the names of the earls of Leicester and Norfolk being withdrawn, and delivered to the said magnates.

All these letters, thus duplicated and sealed, were handed over to John Mansell, treasurer of York.

[All these entries from the beginning of Membrane 11 are cancelled.]

Afterwards, however, by the counsel of the earl of Gloucester and Hertford, Peter de Sabaudia, John Mansell, treasurer of York, the following letter was made and sent to them, because the earl of Leicester would not be surety and the earl marshal was not present, whereby the earl of Gloucester, H. Bigod, John Maunsell, H. de Wengham, and R. Waleran, bound themselves by their letters patent.

March 24. Letters of indemnity (as in the last entry on Membrane 12, with the names of the earls of Leicester and Norfolk struck out).

Afterwards this money was paid out of the issues of the bishopric of Winchester and the letter obligatory of the king's sureties was surrendered and delivered into the wardrobe.

March 16. Mandate to the above earls of Leicester and Gloucester, Peter, John and Robert, to receive 100 marks of gold which were in deposit in the abbey of Beaulieu and which the king has commanded Hugh de Dyve, marshal of the household, to deliver to them to expend on the king's business at the court of Rome which they know of.

Mandate to the said Hugh accordingly.

Mandate to the bailiffs and barons of the Cinque Ports, to give credence to what these will tell them from the king, and to carry it out.

Letters procuratorial made in divers forms of the matter of the peace are enrolled here because there was not room above, which letters J. Maunsell and others, envoys of the king, carried into France in Lent in the forty-third year.
