Membrane 10—cont.

1260.

son, R. de Clare, earl of Gloucester and Hertford, R. de Mortuo Marci, and likewise against Llewelin and his men.

Notification to the said John de Lingeyn that he has been appointed as above and that the king is sending to him the letters patent. This letter is close.

The like to each of the said dictators.

Mandate to Llewelin son of Griffin to cause his dictators to meet them as above.

To the sheriff of Salop. Whereas the bishop of Bangor, on behalf of the said Llewelin, lately came to the king to treat of peace and truces with the said Llewelin, and the king by the said bishop appointed for the said Llewelin a day a month after Easter to send his envoys; and whereas the king, with the assent and counsel of Edward, his son, and the magnates of the king's council, granted to the said Llewelin that the king's lands and those of his son and his men and those of Llewelin and his men should be common until Whitsunday so that in the meantime victuals and other merchandise might be exchanged; and whereas the envoys of the said Llewelin came to the king at the term appointed, but the king, by reason of certain arduous affairs touching the king and the realm, could not attend to this business; the king, by the counsel of his magnates, has prorogued the said term from Whitsunday until a month after Midsummer, so that in the meantime victuals and other merchandise should be exchanged, and commands the sheriff accordingly to permit this, on condition that the said Llewelin do the like and observe the truce. And any breaches of the truce on either side are not to be considered breaches provided that they be amended by the dictators.

In like manner it is commanded to the sheriffs of Gloucester, Stafford and Hereford.

In the same form it is written jointly in one letter patent to the said sheriffs.
