April 18. Boulogne. Acknowledgment of the receipt from Bartholomew Verder, burgess of Arras, by the hand of Aubrey de Fiscoampo, king's clerk, of the jewels which the king pawned with him when he was last in Arras.

April 18. Boulogne. The like from Louis, king of France, of 12,500 pounds of Tours in money by tale, to be deducted from the sum which the said Louis is bound to the king for the cost of knights, according to the form of the peace between them, and promise that the king will expend the same or a like sum in the service of God or the church or to the advantage of the realm, as he is held to do and is contained more fully in the said peace.

Notification to all persons that the king is sending H. bishop of London, John de Baylol, Robert Walerand and Geoffrey de Burleymunt to expound to them the king's state and pleasure and other affairs of his; and they are to place implicit trust in them in what they say on these matters, signifying to the king their good pleasure in regard to them.

Appointment of Roger de Turkelby to make inquisition in the county of Norfolk whether John le Chaumpeneys killed Roger le Wrche in self defence, and abjured the realm on account of, or for some other cause.

Notification to all bailiffs of ports in the land of Boulogne and others that the destrier which Henry the bearer is bringing belongs to John Mansel, treasurer of York; and request that they let him cross with it to England without impediment.

April 20. Wissant. Whereas the king received as a loan in his great need from the échevins and merchants of Ypres 500l. of new sterlings, which he promised to repay to them or their messenger bearing the king's letters patent which they have with letters obligatory of the queen made to them thereof, at London on this instant Sunday after the feast of the Apostles Philip and James, and John Mansel, king's clerk, treasurer of York, at his instance and command likewise, has become surety for the payment at the said day and place, as principal debtor, if the king should fail; the king will save him and his executors harmless in all that concerns such suretyship.

Request to all bailiffs of ports in the parts of Flanders and Boulogne and others to permit Henry de Kaleys, the bearer of these presents, who with the king's licence and will is bringing arms, horses and harness of John Mansel, treasurer of York, to England, to pass freely and without impediment.
