to Gascony to them, have the same power with the seneschal without the mayor as the seneschal and mayor had by reason of the award, with the two hundred and the commune (cum ducentis et communio), and they are, with the two hundred, elected or to be elected by them and the commune, to cause those things to be observed which are contained in the award, and to cause justice to be done to the said Gaillard de Solio and his party for all injuries and plaints, except those done by reason of the war which were remitted by the award, and to cause satisfaction to be made for the damages and expenses by reason of their false and malicious charge of crime against the said Gaillard de Solio, to the contempt of the king and Edward his son, punishing the accusers and transgressors of the peace restored by the king at Bordeaux according to the penalty contained in the award; and by the common assent of the parties and the commune, let them cause a mayoralty and jurate to be made. If, however, any error be made by the said seneschal and John in correcting the said trespass, the king reserves to himself the power of correcting such error.

Membrane 7. (Schedule 2.)

Afterwards there came Gaillard Columbi, William Reymund Columbi, Peter Gundomerii, John Columbi and Amanieu Columbi and complained to the king that those to whom the aforesaid business was committed, unjustly proceeded against them by imprisoning them and confiscating their lands and possessions, though they had not been convicted by form of law of having broken the peace, or done anything against the award whereby they should incur the penalty contained in such award. And they pray that their lands and possessions be replevied (manulevari) to them, on condition that they shall stand to right (stent juri) in all things if it can be proved that they have done anything against the form of the award whereby they have incurred the penalty contained therein.

And because the truth of this matter may be more fully ascertained in Gascony, where the trespass was done, than in England, it is provided that the king send into Gascony such &c. before the feast of &c., with power to hear and determine and correct, if anything require correction, and to give possession to the complainants of their lands and possessions, if of right these should be replevied.

Appointment, during pleasure, of William de Weilond to the office of the escheatry on this side Trent in the form lately provided by the king.

Mandate to the sheriffs in his bailiwick to be intendent to him; and when required by him, to cause to come before him lawful men to make inquisitions or other requisitions in matters pertaining to his office or enjoined upon him by the king.

Protection with clause, for one year from Michaelmas, for John de Verdun, gone to Ireland in the service of Edward the king’s son.

Commitment to the good men of Bremesgrave and Norton of the said manors at farm for five years from midsummer next, rendering yearly at the Exchequer as much as Sampson de Bremesgrave and John Walerand used to render, when they had the said manors at farm.
