to take ten bucks to his use in the said forest against the instant feast of St. Edward.

The like to the keeper of the forest of Whichewode touching ten bucks in that forest.

The king requests Sir Edward his son to cause an extent to be made of the lands of William Samuel and Galiena his wife, and according to such extent to cause them to have reasonable terms for 30s. and 4 marks which they owe to Vives, Jew of Winchester.

By W. de Merton.

Mandate to Thomas de la Weye to find necessaries for a horse of Bernard Johannis, king’s serjeant at arms, going with the king beyond seas, and for the keeper of the said horse, until the return of the said John (sic) with the king from beyond seas; and when the king knows the cost he will cause it to be allowed to him.

Ellis de Wertyng, subprior of Hide, and John de Bristoll and Laurence de Netherhaven, his fellow-monks, coming with letters patent of their chapter, have licence to elect.

Mandate to H. le Despenser, justiciary of England, and Master N., archdeacon of Ely, the chancellor, to let the prior and convent of the said house have the keeping thereof for this turn according to the form of the king’s grant which they have by letters patent.

Mandate to the said justiciary and chancellor to send to the king 400 or 300 marks at least against his arrival at Dover, to pay his debts beyond seas and his expenses to London, and not to omit this as they love the king’s honour.

Pardon to Master William de Fiscampo, the king’s physician, of 1 mark, wherein he was amerced before the justices last in eyre in the county of Sussex, because Geoffrey le Paumer, his servant, bought the chattels of a felon without warrant; with mandate to the barons of the Exchequer accordingly.

Mandate to the treasurer and chamberlains to pay William de Valencia his fee of the instant term of Michaelmas according to the writ of Liberat which he has thereof.

Safe conduct for two years for Th. king of Navarre, and his household, coming and returning through Gascony; directed to all bailiffs and others of Gascony.

Mandate to Roger de Leyburn, the king’s steward, to cause purveyances to be made of all necessaries to celebrate the feast of St. Edward, as will be best for the king’s honour.

Mandate to the above justiciary and chancellor to send over and above the 400 marks to be sent to Dover, 200 marks to pay the king’s debts, and as the king does not know whether he can reach Westminster for the celebration of the feast of St. Edward, they are to provide that the poor coming to Westminster at the said feast, to the number of a hundred thousand, if they should come, and also the poor of the