Mandate to Henry de Hastinges to deliver the castles and lands to Philip Marmion, lately seized on account of the disturbance of the realm, and in his hands, to the sheriff of Warwick, to whom the king has committed them.

Power to Roger de Mortuo Mari, James de Alditheley, and Hamo le Estrangue, when the king will send to the ford of Montgomery at Hilary next to treat of peace and a truce with Llewelin son of Griffin; with power to the said James to swear on the king's soul that he will observe it.

As it appears by inquisition made by William de Engelfeld that King Henry II bought a place in Winchester, where the king's mews (mute) used to be, of the chief lords of the fee, and King John held it after his death, and the king, after his death, held it until the abbot of Persore, then the escheator, demise it to Rowland de Oddingeselese for 10s. a year for his life, and through the death of the said Rowland it is the king's escheat, so that he can give it to whomsoever he will; the king grants it to Reynold son of Peter and his heirs for ever, at a rent of 10s. a year at the Exchequer for all service.

Grant to Robert de Twyt of 10 marks a year at the Exchequer in the name of a fee, until the king provide for him more bountifully in wards or escheats.

Appointmenit of Richard de Molins, as David de Burton, clerk, is said to have been drowned at the bridge of Lodden, co. Berks, and there is not a coroner at present in that county, to exercise the office of coroner in this case, on condition that what he finds by inquisition he present in full county before the coroners of the county when they are substituted.

Letters Patent made in England after the king's retirement from the castle of Windsor, &c. while the seal was in the keeping of John de Chishull.

[The following entries until the king's return to England are attested by Richard, king of Almain, the king's brother.]

Signification to the bishop of London of the royal assent to the election of John Bacun, canon of St. Bartholomew's, London, to be prior of that place.

Commitment during pleasure to Reynold de Suff of the king's chamberlainship of London.

Restitution of temporalities to the aforesaid John Bacun.

Protection without clause for Richard Russel, so long as the king be beyond seas.
