he shall make amends according to the laws and customs of Wales. For the said principality, lordships, lands, castles, hundreds, seisin and other things aforesaid, the said prince and his heirs shall for himself and his magnates satisfy the king and his heirs in respect of the services which his ancestors used to do to the king and his predecessors, kings of England. [Fædera.]

June 20. Commitment during pleasure to Walter de Ebroicis, sheriff of Hereford, of the manors of Lugwardin, Mawardin and Dylun, so that he answer at the Exchequer for the issues.

June 23. Bond to Henry de Bradele and William le Rus, guardians of the bishopric of Hereford, in 10l. for the herbage of 80 acres of meadow which the king took in the meadows of the bishopric about Midsummer when at Hereford, which he will cause to be paid them at All Saints next.

June 25. Whereas those of the town of Shrewsbury have borne themselves towards the king otherwise than they should, and amongst other things done against him have taken the men of Ralph Basset of Drayton, keeper of the peace in those parts, who were lately engaged in the munition of the castle of Shrewsbury by the said Ralph, and still detain them, whereat the king is very greatly moved; he commands the abbot of Shrewsbury, upon sight hereof, to go immediately to the bailiffs and men of the said town, and bid them in the king's name to deliver the said men without delay and give them safe-conduct in coming to the king, and make fitting amends to the king for their trespasses and to send their answer without delay.

June 26. The king thanks the mayor, aldermen, sheriffs and whole commonalty of London for their faithfulness to him and his, and begs them to continue in their constancy and give their counsel and aid to all of his party, and to aggrieve the rebels and their adherents.

This letter is duplicated.

In the same words it is written to the mayor, bailiffs and commonalty of Bristol. By K. the earl of Leicester, the justiciary, P. de Monte Forti, Giles de Argenteun and Roger de Sancto Johanne.

June 28. To Simon de Monte Forti the younger, keeper of the peace in the counties of Surrey and Sussex. Whereas Edward the king's son and Gilbert de Clare, earl of Gloucester, together with John de Warenna, William de Valencia, Roger de Mortuo Mari, James de Ald[ithele] and other rebels now hold certain towns and castles through the land, as he knows, raising new wars, whereat the king is not a little moved and angered; the king begs and commands him on his faith, homage and love to give his counsel and help to his party and to aggrieve the rebels. And he is to let all persons of the said counties know the king's purpose and intention in the premises.

Like letters were directed to Brian de Gouiz, keeper of the peace in the counties of Somerset and Dorset, Hugh Peverel, keeper of the peace in the county of Devon, and Ralph de Arundel.

Also it is written to Adam Gurdun without the last clause. [Fædera.] By K. and the others last above mentioned.
