Jan. 15. Writ of aid for Master John de Sancto Dionisio and William de Muridon, king's clerks, deputed by the archbishop of York, to whom the total execution of the business of the papal tenth is committed, to tax the benefices and ecclesiastical profits in the bishoprics of Norwich, and London, and to audit the reckonings of the payment and collection of the said tenth according to the letters of the said archbishop.

Simple protection for one year for William de Muridon, parson of the church of Mursle.

Mandate to the above Master John and William to make the said taxation according to the true value and to audit the total reckonings. The king further wills that the bishop of Norwich collect the tenth of his third year with the arrears of the second year to the use of the pope in his diocese, by their view and testimony, and that they collect the arrears of the first year in the bishopric of Norwich and the tenth of this third year with the arrears of the preceding two years in the bishopric of London to the use of the king and place the money in some cathedral churches of the said diocese.

Promise to Poncius de Mora, merchant, to whom the king is bound in 56r. for 30 tuns of wine taken from them to the king's use about the Epiphany by Stephen de Edeworth, king's chamberlain of London, to pay him at the Exchequer of Easter next.

Whereas the king is bound to surrender to John de Britannia, his son, the manor of Heyneton, co. Cambridge, which is of the honour of Richemund, and the corpus of the castle and the town of Hastinges and the advowsons of the church and prebends in the said castle, or to make him an equivalent exchange as is contained in a covenant between them, and the king is not able to do either at present; grant to him that from Sunday the octaves of Hilary, when this ought to be done according to the form of the said covenant, that he shall take an equivalent from the issues of the manors of Aldebergh, Lidenham and Wermel; and if there be any excess or deficit in the issues of the said manors, it is to be accounted for on either side.

Jan. 18. Mandate to Richard de Banfeld and Bartholomew de Castello, wardens of the changes of London and Canterbury, to pay the issues thereof from the present time to the treasurer and chamberlains at the Exchequer, for them to pay the same to Adam Stratton, king's clerk, and his fellows, keepers of the works of Westminster, as the king is at present greatly in need of money for the completion of the said works; and not to omit to do this for any other mandate of the king.

Mandate to the collectors of the tenth in the bishopric of Exeter to pay to Queen Eleanor the whole tenth of that bishopric for two of the three years for which the pope made the king a grace of that tenth and the arrears of the first year.

Simple protection without clause, for one year, for John de Preston.
