Oct. 25. Mandate to the mayor and sheriffs of London to pay 225 marks to Poncius de la More, king's merchants to whom the king is bound in that sum for wines, and not to fail in this because of any other mandate of the king, on pain of this sum being levied upon their goods elsewhere.

Oct. 25. Acknowledgment that the abbot and convent of Peterborough have made fine with the king for the twentieth affecting them and their villeins; with mandate to the taxers and collectors of the said twentieth in the counties of Northampton, Lincoln, Leicester, Bedford, Rutland, Cambridge, Huntingdon, and Nottingham, and the sheriffs of those counties not to intermeddle with them.

Whereas the king is informed that those who are of the fee of the church of Canterbury and specially of the tenure of the archbishop are quit of the payment of pedage and toll throughout the realm, and the said archbishopric being in the king's hands the king is bound to maintain it in its rights and liberties; order to all persons to permit them to be quit of the same.
