Membrane 81—cont.

1401.

to hold during his minority in aid of his maintenance to the value of 100£ yearly, so that he answer for any surplus yearly at the Exchequer according to an extent to be made before Midsummer and maintain the houses, buildings, woods, gardens and enclosures without waste. By p.s.

March 25, Westminster.

William Powmfrayt the younger, citizen and skinner of London, staying in England, has letters nominating Richard Warymer his attorney in Ireland for one year.

The chancellor received the attorneys until the advent of William into Ireland.

March 22, Westminster.

Whereas, as the king is informed by Hugh Setour, parson of the church of St. Thomas Martyr in the town of Wynchelsea, a member of the Cinque Ports, which church is of the king's patronage, in divers places of the said ports the fishers pay to the parsons or vicars, a parcel, portion or custom called 'Cristeshare' from the fish taken by them in the sea for their tithes, and in the said town of Wynchelsea this portion has been for a long time paid to the builders for the use of the king after his coronation and the use of certain of his preceptors, the king, considering that the fishers within the said town pay no other tithe to the parson for their fish, with the assent of the council grants to the said parson that he and his successors shall have the said portion in the town and port, notwithstanding that it is worth in time of war little or nothing and in time of peace 20, 40 or 100, or 10 marks yearly. By p.s.

March 21, Westminster.

Commission, due to Richard Gliderowe to control the moneys received by John Burmam, clerk, and John Mitford, appointed collectors by letters patent, from the subsides of 9s. on each ton of wine and 8d. on the pound from Easter next for Parliament in the port of Newcastle on Tyne and other places on both sides on one side to Tweed and on the other side to Scardebergh and there, and to carry at the Exchequer. By bill of the treasurer.

The like to the following:

Robert Wolnesty in the port of London and ports and places from thence on either side of the Thames to Graveshende and there and on the Essex side to Tillebury and there.

Thomas Middelton in the port of Southampton and ports and places from thence to Portsmouth and there and in the Isle of Wight and places from thence to Poole and there.

Thomas Dru in the port of Leam and places from thence on one side to Blakeney and on the other side to Wynechech.

John Belle in the port of Port and ports and places from thence on one side to Gyme and on the other side to Wynechech.

William Osney in the port of Ipswich and ports and places from thence on one side to Ipswich and on the other side to Tillebury.