Pardon to William Bourchier, 'chivaler,' and the king's kinswoman Anne his wife, the heiress of Thomas, late duke of Gloucester, of 100l. charged on them by the barons of the Exchequer for a relief for a yearly rent of 20l., which Richard II by letters patent granted to the said duke and his heirs at the hands of the sheriffs of Buckingham with the name and honour of earl of Buckingham and which the barons assert to be an entire earldom. The said William and Anne have had lately paid in the Exchequer 112l. 15s. 6d. for her relief for the earldoms of Hertford and York; and 22l. 4s. 5d. for her relief for the lands which descended to her by the death of Joan her sister, and paid great sums at the king's chamber for a fine for her marriage.

Recovation of letters patent dated 22 February, 2 Henry IV, committing to Peter Cameryingham, clerk, the keeping of a messuage and 12 acres of land in Stretton late of John Phaytvyn who made forfeiture to the king. By an inquisition taken before William de Rumpston, late escheator in the said county (20), on Saturday after Michaelmas, 3 Henry IV, by his office, it was found that the said John, who made forfeiture to the king because he adhered to John, late earl of Salisbury, and others of his company, held on 6 December, 1 Henry IV, the day of his forfeiture, a messuage and 6 acres of land and meadow in Stretton, worth 5s. yearly, to himself and his heirs in fee simple and William Cook of Stretton received the issues thereof from that day until Michaelmas following; and afterwards at the suit of Robert Prat, William Prat and Richard de Wilheges, suggesting that the premises specified in the letters and in the inquisition were the same and that long before the forfeiture of the earl and others they were
