Dynas in South Wales during the minority of Edmund son and heir of Roger, late earl of March, and so from heir to heir: because at the time when he was sheriff of Hereford he went to great expense in resisting the malice of the Welsh rebels and especially in rescuing the castle and town of Breghennok, besieged by them, trusting to have repayment according to the king's promise by signet letters, and afterwards he was appointed commissioner to take muster of men at arms and archers in South Wales from the time of the last Parliament at Coventre till 1 May last and executed the commissions and others directed to him and returned them into Chancery without reward.

By p.s.

Grant for life to the king's kinsman Edward, duke of York, of the office of the constabship of the Tower of London, which he had of the grant of Richard II and his estate in which he afterwards, at the king's request, demised to Thomas Rempston, knight, now deceased. [Fodera.] By K.

Whereas the pope has made graces and provisions to Thomas Rodeborn, master in arts and scholar in theology of the University of Oxford, of a prebend and canonry in the cathedral church of Lincoln or any other benefice with cure within the tax of 50 marks or without cure within the tax of 30 marks at the disposal of the bishop of Lincoln and the dean and chapter or any canon of the same place, the king pardons the trespass in this and grants licence for the execution of the bull.

By K.

Pardon to Thomas Anlaby, parson of the church of Spofford, for all treasons, insurrections, rebellions, felonies and trespasses committed by him; and grant to him of all his goods forfeited on this account.

By K.

Grant, with the assent of the council, at the supplication of John More of Brydeport, who has surrendered letters patent dated 16 March, 2 Henry IV, granting to him for life 10 marks yearly and has released to the king 20l. in arrear from the same, to the king's clerk Richard Gabriell of all lands late of Nicholas de Wadegrave in the town of Cheffesward alias Chollesworth, in the king's hands by the exile of the Jews, all messuages and lands in le Forde in the parish of Ipplepenne which the alien abbot of Fougères in Brittany alienated to Henry atte Forde and Julian his wife without licence and a message and an acre of land within the manor of Ipplepenne which Henry Snelle acquired from the said abbot, who held the lands of Richard II in chief as of the foundation of his church, to hold from Michaelmas last with all profits for life if they remain so long in the king's hands to the value of 46s. 8d. yearly, so that he answer for any surplus at the Exchequer.

By p.s.

Whereas John de Stratford, son and heir of Robert de Stratford, deceased, tenant in chief, has shown the king that when he was a minor and in the king's keeping he married without licence and for this cause the king has been answered for all issues from the lands which the said Robert thus held in chief from the time when the said John came to full age until now, viz. for the space of eight years or thereabouts, which issues amount to 18 marks: the king, with the assent of the council, pardons to him the trespass.

By p.s.

Presentation of Henry Drayton, chaplain, to the church of Waltham in the diocese of Lincoln.

By p.s.