Membrane 9—cont.

The like, until Martinmas next, for Robert Wedalle, esquire, of Scotland, now within the realm, going to Scotland with four servants, horse or foot, in his company and returning to the realm on divers business.

Commission, during pleasure, to the king’s brother Thomas Beaufort to do all things pertaining to the office of constable of England in the absence of the king’s son John, the constable, who is occupied on divers business of the king and the realm in the north. [Feder.] By K.

The like to the king’s kinsman Richard, lord of Grey, to do all things pertaining to the office of marshal of England in the absence of the king’s brother Ralph, earl of Westmoreland, the marshal. [Feder.] By K.

Appointment of the king’s son John, constable of England and warden of ‘le Estmarch’ of England towards Scotland, as the king’s deputy and commissary with full power to treat either by himself or others with any deputies and commissaries of Scotland having sufficient power about truces and abstinences of war until Easter next. [Feder.] By K.

Licence for the king’s son Thomas de Lancastr, steward of England, to enfeoff Henry, bishop of Winchester, Thomas Beaufort, ‘chivaler,’ John Stanley, ‘chivaler’; steward of the household, Thomas Stanley, clerk, John Paubriggecourt, ‘chivaler,’ William Manny, ‘chivaler,’ Peter Bukon, ‘chivaler,’ and William Alyngton, esquire, of the manor and lordship of Brustwyk, the castle and manor of Skipse and the patronage of the abbey of Melso, co. York, the manor of Barowe and the patronage of the abbey of Thornton, co. Lincoln, and all manors, lands, rents, services, franchises, liberties and possessions within the towns of Preston, Burton Pidse, Bond Brustwyk, Skellyng, Lelle Dyk. Paule, Kayngham, Skellyng, Esyngton, Kylnesee, Wythorness and Cleton which lately came into the king’s hands by certain causes, with various things pertaining, appendant or belonging to the same, held in chief. By K.

Safe-conduct, for one year, at the supplication of the king’s kinsman Archibald, earl of Douglas in Scotland, for a ship, of which John Swerde is master, which he proposes to send with John Symson and John Daweson, merchants of his, or one of them in it and mariners and other servants for its governance to the number of twenty persons to Normandy and Rochelle to trade, with freedom for them to put into any ports of England.

By K.

Safe-conduct, until Christmas next, for Ector Makgillane of Scotland, son of the sister of the lord of Hylis, coming within the realm to the king’s presence with two familiar servants, horse or foot, in his company to have colloquy with his liege lord the king of Scotland by the king’s licence and returning to his own parts, provided that they bring no letters or messages to their said lord without first giving notice to the king. By K.

Safe-conduct, for two years, at the request of the king’s kinsman Mordac de Fyf, for Mordac Makealpy of Scotland going to the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge to study and returning to his own parts. By K.