Membrane 4—cont.

1410.

Jan. 8. Grant to the king's esquire Bernin de Jales and the heirs of his body, in consideration of his great losses in the time of the war with France, when he was twice captured by the French and put to such great ransom that he had to sell his rents and possessions, of the king's lordship of about the fourth part of the parish of St. Medard in Jales at a country place called Acorbiac with certain rents and profits extended at the value of 2 marks yearly, provided that he answer for any surplus at the exchequer within the castle of Bordeaux. By K. & by p.s.

Jan. 12. Grant for life to the king's servant Thomas Walashe, yeoman of the king's cellar, of 10 marks yearly from the issues of the county of Devon, in lieu of a like grant of 20 marks yearly to William Cressewelle, esquire, deceased.

The like to the king's esquire Laurence Everard. By K.

Jan. 12. Grant to John, lord of Gramont and Cama, and his wife Mary de Montaut, lady of Mussyden and Blaye, who has been disinherited of the town, castle and castellany of Mussyden and Pelegue since the death of her father, of all goods and lands of rebels within their lands and castellany of Blaye or their other lands within the king's jurisdiction. [Federā ; under 1409.]

Mandate in pursuance to the seneschal of Aquitaine and the constable of Bordeaux and their lieutenants and the chancellor and other ministers and officers of the king there.

Grant, at the supplication of the said John and Mary, because the king's progenitors assigned to her predecessors the great custom of 600 tons of wine amounting to 600 old crowns yearly from the castle of Bordeaux from the first wines customed there, of which she cannot be paid, that she shall be paid each year from the wines from the town and castellany of Blaye and any deficit shall be paid by the constable of Bordeaux from the customs of the first wines at the castle of Bordeaux.

Mandate in pursuance as above.

Jan. 3. Pardon to John Launcelyn, who was lately impanelled on two inquisitions on the same day, one before the king and the other before the justices of the Bench, and appeared before the justices of the Bench and was put on the inquisition but did not appear before the king, of 5 marks incurred by him in consequence.

Pardon to William Arnaud de Mota, lord of Roquetaillede (de Rupe Seisa) and Contor, who captured one Master John de Roqua and did other damages in the land and power of the lord of La Brit and other parts of the king's enemies contrary to certain securities and abstentions from war granted by the lord of Duras, seneschal of Aquitaine, and others of the king's council at Bordeaux, of all forfeitures, trespasses, misprisions and offences committed by him; and grant that all the
