1415. Dec. 4. Westminster. Whereas the Welsh lands of the king's tenants in the county of Cardigan in South Wales in times past have been taken into the hands of the king's progenitors as escheat and are still in the king's hands because their ancestors died without heirs of their bodies, contrary to the Welsh laws of those parts, by which the lands should not be escheatable; the king, for 1,000l. to be paid at the receipt of the exchequer of Kermeryn, viz. 500 marks at SS. Philip and James next, 500 marks at All Saints following, 250 marks at SS. Philip and James following and 250 marks at All Saints following, grants to the said tenants and their heirs and successors that the lands shall not be taken into the king's hands on that account otherwise than Welsh law requires.
