April 20. InspeXimus and confirmation to John, bishop of Ely, and William, prior, and the monks of the cathedral church of Ely of an arbitration of certain disputes between them by Henry Ware, keeper of the privy seal, William Hankeford, the king's chief justice, and Roger Horton, one of the justices of the King's Bench, on the feast of St. Nicholas the Bishop, 1417, confirmed by the said bishop on the feast of the Conception of St. Mary and by the said prior and convent on the feast of St. Lucy the Virgin.

The bishop shall have all spiritual jurisdiction through the whole city and diocese of Ely, except that the sacristan of the church of Ely shall have jurisdiction in the hospital of St. John the Baptist within the city and in the chaplains of the chantry on la Grene in the same as vicar of the bishop and as is expressly contained in the foundations and ordinances and not otherwise but, considering that the said chaplains celebrate within the cathedral church of Ely and were accustomed to be present at certain divine services in it, he shall coerce them by ecclesiastical censures or other injunctions if they do not perform what is incumbent on them, and he shall have all spiritual jurisdiction, cases of heresy excepted, in all chaplains and parish clerks or holy water bearers serving in the two parish churches within the city appropriated to the said religious, whose fruits pertain to the office of the sacristy, and because the jurisdiction of other clerks and laymen within the same parishes without the places attributed below to the said religious pertains to the bishop the said chaplains and clerks serving in the said two churches shall take oath to the bishop of obedience to his lawful and canonical mandates, and the sacristan shall have all spiritual and ecclesiastical jurisdiction, cases of heresy excepted, in all persons, clerks and laymen, servants, officers, artificers and ministers, serving within the bounds of the monastery or without in its granges or manors by Ely, viz. Turbuttesey, Brame, Stunteney, Thorney, Northencey, Quaveney and Shepey, or even dwelling within the city and lying without the monastery by night. Moreover, notwithstanding that in times past the sub-prior of Ely has been accustomed to come yearly to the synod of the bishop in the priory of Bernewell with two other monks of the monastery of Ely and divers gear and celebrate mass in the synod, the bishop shall henceforward not claim this attendance or celebration from them and it shall be in their choice to send one of their monks or other lawful proctor to the synod to treat of what may be done. The sacristan shall have jurisdiction as above at all times saving times of visitation and cases and businesses devolving to the bishop by way of appeal, but if he
