together between the said tenement Foxes on the south and a tenement of John Brewere on the north and containing in front by the king's way 22 perches less 2 feet and abutting on the vineyard of the prior; a tenement of Thomas Peyntour lying between the said tenement of John Brewere on the south and a tenement of the bishop in the tenure of the same John on the north and containing in front by the king's way 1 perch and 2 feet and abutting on the vineyard of the prior; a vacant tenement now in the tenure of John Butiller, a tenement of Robert Wryghte, lying together between a tenement of the bishop now in the tenure of Thomas Peyntour on the south and a tenement of John Clement, 'barkere,' on the north and containing in front by the king's way 3 perches and 3½ yards of the king's iron yard and abutting on the said vineyard of the prior; a tenement of Richard Aleyne lying between a tenement of the said John Clement on the south and a tenement of Edmund Cotermonger on the north of the fee of the bishop and containing in front by the king's way 2 perches less 3 feet and abutting on the vineyard of the prior; a tenement of William Waoton, two tenements of Thomas Grey under one roof, three tenements of Aubrey Pilet under one roof, a tenement of John Neel, chaplain, a tenement of John Martyn, 'flysser,' a tenement of John Boef, a tenement of Joan Dounham in which are constructed four cottages and a tenement of John Wyncestre, lying together between the tenement of the said Edmund Cotermonger on the south and the corner of Brodelanesende on the north and containing in front by the king's way 18 perches and abutting on the said vineyard of the prior.

All tenements from the corner of Brodelanesende to the wall of the sacristy which is of the fee of the bishop with seven selds under the chapel of the almonry, containing in front by the king's way 48 perches, 4½ yards of the king's iron yard and the seven selds containing in breadth from the wall of the almonry to the north 2½ yards of the king's iron yard.

On the east of Brodelanesende to Castelhithe, a little garden lying in Flexlan between a tenement of Edmund Cotermong sometime Wolfz on the east and a garden of Aubrey Pyle on the west which are of the fee of the bishop and abutting on Flexlan and containing there in breadth 2 perches and 1½ yards of the king's iron yard and in length towards the north 4 perches; a tenement of John Rouynge, a tenement of Katharine Puddynge, four cottages under one roof, lying between Flexlan on the north and three tenements of the bishop under one roof on the south, which four cottages of the prior contain in front by the king's way 3½ perches less one foot; a tenement of Peter Wryghte with two cottages adjoining, a tenement of John Clement, 'maltster,' lying together between the lane called Aintresdale on the north and a vacant tenement of Edmund Cotermong on the south and containing in front by the king's way 7 perches, 2 yards of the king's iron yard; a tenement of Robert Dowre, a tenement of Robert Brame, an empty tenement called 'le Storyerd ' pertaining to the chapel of St. Mary with a garden at the east end extending to Monkeshith, a tenement called 'ex opposito Johannis Shene,' lying together between a tenement of John Barkere pertaining to the almoner of the fee of the bishop on the corner of Baldokeslane on the north and a little lane called Barkereslane on the south; a tenement of John Borgh lying in Barkereslane on the south and containing in length from Wynferthynylane towards the great hithe 9 perches, 1 yard of the