in England and Ireland of which Philip died seised and she is dowable, from his death until the day of the livery of her dower in the Chanceries of England and Ireland.

By p.s.

Membrane 26d.

April 4. Westminster.
Commission to William Dyolet, clerk, and William Jewe, esquire, to take two sufficient ships in ports of the county of Devon for carrying the victuals of the king's kineman Hugh Courtenay, earl of Devon, whom the king has appointed as his lieutenant for the next voyage at sea, from the towns of Dertemuth and Plymuth to the port of Southampton, and mariners for the same.
By the keeper.

April 13. Westminster.
Commission to H. archbishop of Canterbury, H. bishop of Winchester, Th. bishop of Durham, N. bishop of Bath and Wells, H. bishop of Chichester, Robert Lovell, esquire, and the sheriff of Southampton to supervise the musters of the king's brother John, duke of Bedford, and his retinue and other men at arms, armed men and archers going with him to the king on 18 April next or within twelve days following at Southampton and certify thereon to the council.
By C.

The like to Robert Ponymes, 'chivaler,' Simon Felbrig, 'chivaler,' the sheriff of Southampton and William Sopere of Suthampton to supervise the musters of 500 men at arms armed and 1000 archers in certain ships and other vessels in the port of Suthampton for the safe-keeping of the sea under the leading of the king's kineman Hugh, earl of Devon, the lord of Botreaux, Thomas Carrowe, 'chivaler,' and John Hauley on 1 May next or within twelve days following in the said port and to certify thereon to the council.
By C.

May 2. Westminster.
Commission to James Cokkes, mayor of Bristol, to take two ships of Bayonne in the port of the said town, of which Peter de Port and Nowailes are masters, for the passage of John Tiptoft, 'chivaler,' seneschal of the duchy of Aquitaine, and his soldiers and servants and their horses, harness and victuals to the said duchy, and mariners of the same.

Membrane 22d.

May 1. Westminster.
Commission to Simon Blakeburn, serjeant at arms, to cause proclamation to be made in the port of London and all ports and places from thence to the mouth of the sea that all who have received the king's wages for their ships and other vessels for the passage of the king's brother John, duke of Bedford, and other soldiers of the king in his company to the king's presence in Normandy are to come to the port of Suthampton with all speed with the same ships and vessels.

May 9. Westminster.
Commission to William Soper to take all ships to the number of twelve coming to the ports of Suthampton, Pole, Melcombe and Weymouth for the passage of John Tiptoft, seneschal of the duchy of Aquitaine, to the same duchy, and mariners for their governance.

May 12. Westminster.
Commission, by advice of the council, to the mayor of Bristol, John Merbury, Walter Aubrey, David Bland and Thomas Harleston to