July 8.
Westminster. Whereas the priory of Blythe, of the foundation of the king's progenitors and of the king's patronage, through the improvident governance of the late priors is oppressed with great annuities, pensions, corrodies and debt and its goods and jewels are wasted and many manors, lands and possessions improvidently demised at farm and otherwise alienated, and the prior and convent are much troubled divine worship and other works of piety withdrawn and the dispersal of the monks is feared; the king has taken the priory into his hands and committed the keeping of it and its manors, lands, rents and other possessions and goods to the abbot of Selby for four years, so that all issues beyond the necessary maintenance of the prior and convent and their servants shall be applied to the relief of the house and the support of the charges and payment of the debts, and has granted protection.
