Feb. 4. On 6 July, 1 Henry VI, the king, with the advice of the council letters patent, and on certain surety, granted to Robert Briand, Benedictine monk, whom the abbot of St. Taurinus of Eureux in France had presented to the alien priory of Langenish in Wales, who had been duly inducted by the then bishop of St. David, the custody of the said priory for his life from Michaelmas then last past, and to tender at the Exchequer 20l. a year as Richard ap Morgan, late prior, had done to Henry V. Afterwards on 12 December, 5 Henry VI, the king by other letters patent committed the custody of the priorate of Langenish in Wales to William Penycrach and Robert Colyngblythe. It has been shown to the king by the said prior that these two patents both refer to the same priory, and that he has been wrongfully put to outlay by virtue of the later of them. He asks therefore that this grant may be annulled, and that he may be restored and have the mesne profits from the date of his expulsion. A writ of seire facias was then issued to the sheriff of Hereford for the said Penycrach and Colyngblythe to appear in Chancery and shew cause to the contrary. The matter returned that they had been duly summoned by Roger Erlyche and Richard Gamon, but they failed to appear. Wherefore, by advice of the king's justices, serjeants at law and other learned men of his court...
