July 12. In the parliament held at Westminster in 9 Henry V, a partition was Westminster. made by agreement between that king as son and heir of Mary, one of the daughters and heirs of Humphrey de Bohun late earl of Hereford, Essex, and Northampton, constable of England, and Anne countess of Stafford, daughter and heir of Eleanor, the other daughter and heir of the said Humphrey, of all castles, manors and their members, hundreds, lands, marshes, fees, counties, courts, views, forests, parks, woods, reversions and other possessions in England and Wales, of which the said late earl was seised in demesne or reversion on the day of his death, except fees and advowsons in gross, whereby amongst other things the castle and manor of Brekenoc, with its members, was assigned to the said Anne. Now it was then claimed on her behalf that the castle and town of Brenles, the lordships of Penkelly and Cantrecelly, the manors and lordships of Langoyt and Alisaundres Toune, and one third of the barony of Penkelly in Wales, were parcels and members of the said castle and lordship of Brekenoc, and ought accordingly to pass entirely to her, while it was claimed on the part of the king that they were in gross and not such members, and therefore ought to be divided equally between him and her. Pending decision the lands in dispute were taken into the hands of the late king, and they are now in the hands of the present king, who, being desirous of preserving the rights of both parties, by advice of his council and with her consent, has granted to John bishop of Bath and Wells, and to Roger Aston, knight, the custody of the said lands from Michaelmas last until decision of the dispute, rendering yearly at the Exchequer 73*l.* 14*½d.*
