Licence, for 50 marks paid in the hanaper, for Thomas de Rous of Hamelak, knight, to grant his manor of Estbourne and hamlet of Hechington, co. Sussex, and his manors of Addyreyle and Sponeley, co. Salop, which are held by the king in chief, to Thomas Chawurth, William Babynington, and Robert Babthorp, knights, Nicholas Wyrmbyesh, clerk, Richard Hanserd, William Heton, Geoffrey Paynr, Robert Hoton, and Robert Wesynham, esquires, Ralph Holand, citizen and draper of London, John Bowys, William Blakburne and Richard Benyngton, and their heirs.

William Cheyne, Robert Sireston and Robert Neutebornee acquired to themselves and their heirs from William Brantyngham, knight, the manor of Catteshull, co. Surrey, which is held of the king in chief, and entered therein, and afterwards demised it, by the name of the manor of Catishull, to the said William Brantyngham, John Brantyngham and John Elston and to William Olyvoro, since deceased, son of the said John Brantyngham, and their heirs. The latter grantees also entered, and afterwards the said William Brantyngham released all his right and title to his kinsman, the said John Brantyngham, and his heirs. Then the same John granted the premises to Thomas Wyntreshull, Robert Wynterseshull, John Marchall, Robert Stoughton, Henry Stoughton and Thomas Frying, and their heirs; and, after they had entered, the said John Elston, by the name of John Elston of Little Lymbergh, co. Lincoln, released to them; these things being done without licence. But now the king, for 10 marks paid in the hanaper, has pardoned these trespasses.
