adjacent Welsh marches, which he held of Henry IV, by knight service, and that on Monday before the Nativity of St. Mary, 10 Henry IV, he granted them to John Fitz Piers and the heir of his body, without licence, and by that licence, at the date of the inquisition John Fitz Piers was seised thereof. And afterwards he petitioned the king, shewing that, although by letters patent, dated 20 October, 3 Henry V, by assent of the lords spiritual and temporal and at the request of the comonalty of England in the then Parliament, the late king pardoned him all gifts, alienations and purchases of lands held in chief made before 3 December, 2 Henry V, he had been put out of possession by colour of the said inquisition, and of letters patent dated 22 November, 10 Henry VI, granting to John Sutton, baron of Dudley, knight, the custody of the said manors, therein described as late of Edward Charleton, knight, and praying that the last named letters patent might be annulled and he restored to possession. A writ of scire facias was issued to the sheriff of the said county for the said John Sutton to appear in chancery and shew cause to the contrary; and the sheriff returned that he had warned him by John Badley, William Potter, Hugh Haveley and Thomas Poulemer; and on the day appointed he appeared in Chancery by Thomas Kirkeby, his attorney, but as he could say nothing in effect against the matter of the petition, judgment was given that the letters patent in his favour should be annulled and the said John Fitz Piers put back in possession; and the said letters patent are hereby revoked accordingly.
