Aug. 6. Licence for Adam de Colton, one of the yeomen of the chamber, to sell to any of the king's subjects the garden, dovecote and three acres and a half of land in Bermundesey, called 'le Hale,' which the king lately granted to him in fee simple. By p.s. Westminster.

July 21. Grant to John de Harpden, to whom the king lately granted for life Eltham Manor. 100 marks a year at the Exchequer, of 100 marks at the same for 20 years whether he live or die, on his surrender of the former grant and in aid of the payment of the large ransom in which he is bound and which he knows not how to pay by advance (chevanciam) or otherwise at the day appointed. By p.s. Westminster.

Aug. 3. Grant, for life, to Simon de Burley, knight, under chamberlain of the Windsor Castle, king, who holds in fee simple, by grant of Robert de Vere, earl of Oxford, the king's chamberlain, the castle and lordship of Lennax, co. Hereford, of liberty to arrest (which he has not power to do at present) robbers, thieves, murderers and others, English and Welsh, who night and day enter the said lordship, and to bring them to the said castle, there try them according to form of law and punish them, and that he may have all other franchises and liberties with view of frank pledge for the term of his life. By signet letter. Westminster.

Aug. 6. Grant, for the greater security of Antony Pynell, Lombard, who in the king's great necessity has lent him 544 l. for which, by the advice and consent of Counsell, Hugh de Segrave, treasurer, has made to him certain assignments, viz. 500 l. thereof from a moiety of the tenth and fifteenth in the county of Southampton, granted in the last Parliament by the Commons of England, and the remaining 44 l. from the petty custom receivable in the port of London, as by divers tallies thereof made and levied appear, that the said assignments shall continue in full force and not be revoked by the king or any of his ministers. By signet letter. Westminster.
