Revocation of protection with clause volumus for one year granted 21 February last to John Cosyn, farmer of the manor of Stoure Prewes, co. Dorset, late of the abbess of Prewes in Normandy and in the king's hand on account of the war with France, because though he should have gone on the king's service to Normandy to stay with William Lescrop, keeper of the castle and town of Cherbourg, he yet tarries in London on his own affairs, as appears by testimony of William Hankeford, the king's servant, and Robert Hull, serjeant-at-law.
