his heirs, during their minority, to the yearly value of 20 marks, and also of the marriage of the said heirs, paying for the same what shall be agreed upon with the treasurer; on his surrender of letters patent to the like effect dated 31 January last, wherein the lands are misdescribed as those of Alice, late the wife of the said Thomas.

Pardon and release from prison, with the assent of the Council, of Jerome de Kaveill, merchant of Genoa, and of the forfeiture of his goods and chattels under these circumstances: Having brought some bales of ginger to Southampton, he swore before the collectors of customs there that they were bought abroad at a less price than they were, so that he paid less custom than was due; thereupon he sent some bales to Flanders and some he sold to Geoffrey Broke, Robert Cely, Thomas Hoo and Edmund Frauncy, merchants of London, leaving six in London unsold. For concealing the true value he was sent to the Fleet prison, and the six bales together with certain money, amounting to 157l. part of which was in the hands of the said London merchants and due from them for ginger sold, and part in the hands of Angelo Caba, merchant of Genoa, similarly due, have been arrested to the king's use by the treasurer of England, as forfeited. For the money so arrested, this pardon with restitution of the bales so arrested is now granted, provided that if the sum in the hands of the parties aforesaid exceed 157l. the surplus is accounted for at the Exchequer.
