Licence, for 5 marks paid to the king by John Belle, alderman, and the brethren and sisters of the gild of Corpus Christi in Boston, for the alienation in mortmain to them and their successors by Master John Strensall, parson of Boston, Thomas de Hagh and Thomas de Kirkby, chaplain, of 28s. 4d. of rent issuing from a messuage in Boston of Richard Stevenson, John Clerk and the heirs of Henry de Eston, for finding two tapers (_ceres_) to burn daily at high mass before the high altar in Boston church.

_Vacated by surrender and cancelled, because the said messuage belonged solely to the said Richard, and Henry IV, 12 November, in his fourth year, granted the said rent to the said persons accordingly._ [Calendar, 1401-1405, p. 178.]
